Simon Says for Adults

Charge up your event's energy with "Simon Says!"
A terrifically fun attention grabber that's as great for grown-ups now as it was forty years ago!

"We were thrilled to see that they were more than on-board – they were trying hard to keep up and stay in the game."

When the last twenty or so took to the stage, everyone was enthralled, watching for a winner and finally cheering for the man who outlasted the rest..."

– One Smooth Stone

Not only have we not outgrown this game — we aren't really any better at it as adults!
Paying close attention is a real effort... and, in this case, hilarious!

The idea is easy enough: Act only when Milo says "Simon Says". And if Milo does something different than what he himself says? Again, do what he says. not what he does. A breeze, eh? Guess again! We grown-ups have a terrible tendency to anticipate!

This gentle fun challenge has every mind in the room working (especially as Milo gets tougher!)

Milo's initial chatting up of the audience psyches up the house to play and plants a seed for considering our listening skills as well!

The video on our website includes selections of Milo with a room of floor/carpet business owners. From 500 at first, down to 20 brought onstage... we celebrated one winner!
